New Chief Operations Officer at Sumitomo (SHI) Demag

On May 6th, 2009 Mr. Shaun Dean (43) was appointed as Sumitomo (SHI) Demag's third Management Director. In his position as COO and together with Dr. Tetsuya Okamura and Markus Schiefer Mr. Dean will take over the responsibility for all operational and production processes. Mr. Dean will bring his broad experience achieved during various positions as a top manager within the Sumitomo Heavy Industries Group and formerly with Fenner PLC (a technology supplier for enhanced polymers) and engage and combine the Japanese and European business concepts together.

During the last ten years Dean, a born Englishman, was successful in implementing the organisation of many international companies in Europe as well as in Asia. Amongst others he was responsible for the start-up of three new production sites for electric drive technology in Vietnam.

Since March 2008 Sumitomo (SHI) Demag, the former Demag Plastics Group, has been belonging to the Japanese Sumitomo (SHI) Group. In Asia Sumitomo is among the leading manufacturers and the dominating company in the field of electric injection moulding machines worldwide.
